

Personal Creative Power and Oneness

an essay from Master Yeshua

I would speak of power. Power. The word, itself, resonates.

Now power in the physical world can be of various sorts. There is certainly financial power. There is violent power. There is religious power. There is parental power. The list goes on. Power.

Those who have studied power know that there are various sources of power. There is positional authority, for example. Give someone a title and they have power – in theory.

Yet while I speak about power that demonstrates in the physical world, I do not speak of power that is sourced there. I am talking about the power that comes from God – the Divine, the Creator.

Divine power reaches human beings via a pathway through the soul, through the heart, and eventually becomes creative power directed by the mind. In other words, this power becomes a thought-form. And thought-forms have power of their own.

Thought-forms

A thought-form is a creation of the mind. But where is each thought-form sourced? Sourced is the key.

Is this thought-form sourced from desire, which is the emotional nature commonly called the astral? An astral-desire source can, I think, be summed up with the word “more”. More influence over people, more control over people, more money, more jewels, more toys, more houses. More.

Thought-forms can be concepts. Market share. What is market share but the thought-form of more?

Other thought-forms come from the mind. Ideas, philosophy. Thought-forms of redemption. Thought-forms about a savior. Thought-forms about governance. Democracy. Plutocracy. (If you do not understand plutocracy, you'd better look it up.) Socialism. Thought-forms.

Now, most of these ideas and concepts come from what is technically the lower mind or the "concrete mind" in our terminology, meaning that part of the mental apparatus of a human being that takes care of day-to-day operations and normal life. The mind has an upper region, which many of you are beginning to contact and that upper region of the mind is closer to spirituality.

The heart is where soul knowledge comes through and soul knowledge can be directed from the mind – let us say the upper mind, the higher mind. That has a nice feedback loop: soul, heart, upper mind; soul, heart, upper mind. And from this loop, this source, thought-forms can be created.

And these thought-forms have as much power as thought-forms based on "more". NGOs (Non-governmental Organizations). List them. Ideas that come from the soul through the heart to become thought-forms. Micro-lending. One of my favorites. ChildHelp, one of my favorites. Look these up if you do not know them.

The United Nations started as a thought-form. The environmental movement. Women's suffrage. These are powerful thought-forms that drive action. A thought-form that does not drive action is not manifesting its power.

Understand The Source, Understand The Power

The key to understanding power is understanding the source of the thought-form that drives that power. To understand the source, start asking questions. Will this organization-idea-concept (fill in the blank) benefit the whole of humanity, and if so, how? In what ways? Justify it.

In what way will this benefit the earth on which you live? In what way will this enrich and purify the energetic network that connects the entire of Creation in Oneness? You might consider this as you use your own personal power.

You have power

Each one of you reading this has creative power. You are a source of power. You have the power to buy into existing thought-forms, to create new thought-forms – and to destroy thought-forms that no longer serve a purpose or never did serve a purpose.

You can feel a thought-form in its creation. Mob rule. Mob violence. Mob mentality. Let's say you are sitting around with friends and someone starts throwing verbal stones at this politician or that one, at this idea or that one.

Now, you may agree with these verbal assaults. And what do you do about it? Do you use your creative power to build and strengthen that negative thought-form, that destructive thought-form?

Well, what does it mean to "destroy"? Need destruction be negative? For let me tell you – love, compassion and positive ideas are just as destructive to outmoded, negative thought-forms as are angry, violent counter-thought-forms.

Which is the better way to go? Which way will you choose to use your creative powers?

Using Your Creative Powers

You direct your power with your free will. At the risk of being repetitive, see my first essay¹. I ordered these for a specific reason, because at the base of your use of power lies your free will. At the base of your integration into Oneness, lies your free will.

At the base, controlling the speed and method of your ascension, lies your free will.

The essays are not that long. Do a little reading.

¹ "Soul Purpose and Free Will," essay 11-03.

I would ask each and every one of you to listen to your heart, because your heart is your connection to your soul. Listen to your heart. Listen to your soul, and use your mind – I don't mean just the concrete mind, I mean your upper mind that is closer to spirituality, the mind that touches your intuition. Listen to your heart, use your upper mind, use your intuition and decide to which thought-form you are going to give your power.

To which thought-forms are you going to contribute your creativity? Because trust me, you are contributing every single day to one thought-form or another, very likely many.

Think about it. Think about it as you decide what behavior, what actions, what attitudes are acceptable, are worth creating, are worth pouring your creative energy into – because if you take a word, an idea, a concept and pass it along, you are empowering a thought-form and you are creating. You are creating love and unity and supporting Oneness with your power, or you're not.

I would ask you to think about that.

The Power of God Lives Within You

Human souls are bright, and beautiful, and loving, and compassionate. A human soul is a fragment of God the Divine. It is an individualized entity within the whole of Creation. It is part of God. And that human soul has taken a fragment of itself and placed that fragment of itself inside each and every one of you at the seat of your heart. So in the seat of your heart, literally your very heart, is where you will find the fragment of God that lives within you.

Listen to it. Listen for it. Because, with any luck at all, the soul that resides on the inner planes has communication with the soul that lives within you. Listen to that soul's creative power. Use your mind, your upper mind – use every part of you to create the world you want to live in, remembering always, you are connected in Oneness. You can't avoid it.

You can frown or you can smile at the strangers you meet as you go about your daily life, as you jostle for a place in line or a seat on the bus. You can frown or you can smile. You are creating an energy field wherever you are. That, too, is your personal power.

The power of God, my friends, the power of God is within you. I have never said otherwise. You were born with the power of God inside, residing in you. Each and every one of you – even those who are born “different” from what their parents expected, let us put it that way – physically, emotionally, mentally, different from what parents expected, wanted, hoped for. To discover why we would have to go back and look at pre-incarnation planning, at the Plan of God, and many other factors. Many other factors.

None of that negates the fact that those of you reading this message have within you power, the power of God. And how you use that power is your choice. Your free will.

I would urge you to use that power in love, and compassion, and in service to the energetic environment in which you move. I urge you to use your power to improve Oneness – that energetic network that is the sum total of this earth and every creature, animal, flower or rock on this earth, within this earth, or above this earth.

Consider that.

My blessings to you all. I wish you all wisdom on your personal path. I wish you all a creative, loving, positive use of your personal power.

Blessings,
Yeshua / Jeshua
