

Two Views On Heaven

a commentary from
Master Yeshua

Q: Could you comment on the concept of heaven?

A: You want a commentary on heaven. What is there to say about heaven? Well I can tell you what it is not. It is not a rarified place where one spends eternity with endless pleasure, satisfaction, chumming around and having coffee with the angels, finding a place that has everything you want, all your heart's desire, and all your loved ones about you. It is not that.

Those who have read my essay on Ascension and Ascended Masters (11.04) will begin to understand "heaven". Heaven is a concept that came into being to account for eternity. Something had to be done to provide a reward and therefore we have heaven. There must be a carrot, or who in the world is going to keep all these rules? I'm pretty certain that you will be hard-pressed to find any religious or spiritual construct that does not have a series of rules that must be kept, and if you keep these rules there will be a reward. Heaven is the reward.

There are various – I would call it various paths that can be followed after death. If you define your location after death as either heaven or hell, then I would say there is only heaven. We will proceed on that basis.

After-Death Heaven

This after-death heaven has multiple paths and each soul will follow the path depending upon its own maturity, its own inclinations – a great many factors – and the probability is that path is leading to, or is part of a group. There are not many soloists. Let us take our two breakouts: heaven and Earth.

Is there only one way to picture the Earth? If you happen to be living north of the Arctic Circle in the land of the midnight sun, you certainly have a different perspective of Earth than those living at the Equator, and likewise – I think you get where I am going – if you live in the mountains or on the shore, or on an island, or in the middle of Asia . . . .

There are many perspectives of Earth, and they are all Earth. Heaven in the after-death context is just as complicated, is just as complex, with each soul finding its own group, its own companions along the journey of maturing, the journey of evolution.

The birth experience brings a spark of the soul to Earth while the soul remains in its own plane. Now, how many different places, environments could that spark be? I think you can answer that question. And death releases a soul to “heaven” and there are just as many different scenarios to the after-death – which gets the name heaven since I have eliminated anything else – as there are differences when a soul comes to Earth. I shall not go into all the complexities of after-death heaven any more than I would attempt to describe all the complexities of Earth.

But I will say that the reward heaven promises best plays out on Earth when you, as a manifested soul, realize you are a manifested soul and let the soul wisdom, love, experience – the beauty of the human soul – shine through and out into the world, so that the spark of the Divine within you expresses itself in the world.

Heaven on Earth

If that divine spark is expressing itself and manifesting the Divine in fractal form, whether that be in incarnation or between incarnations, then you have a taste of heaven. Heaven is not a place. Heaven is a milieu of existence, a mindset, a state of being, not a place. And this heaven can be had on Earth.

Stay in your heart space and let your soul come through as the Christ Consciousness you are and can be, and you are catching on about anchoring heaven on Earth. It is then you are working back and forth with karma and melding and balancing. Balancing. Balancing. In all this balancing there is a function that is anchoring the Divinity that you are on Earth. I repeat: anchoring on Earth the Divinity that you are. Let us make that perfectly clear. That is how heaven is created on Earth. It is not by any other means.

It is only through each individual, one at a time, until there are hundreds and the hundreds become thousands, and the thousands become millions, and the millions become the billions that are humanity.

With each anchoring on Earth comes wisdom, comes divine love, comes change. Comes healing, comes respect – respect for each other, but most importantly, respect for Mother Earth. Respect for the Source that is the Divine love – love as expressed not in your romance novels, but the love of God, the love of God that is Creation. The love that learns what it is not, so that it knows what it is. The love that looks on another human being through the heart and can find in another being the similar spark of God, the similar nugget of divinity, and call it forth to shine, or recognize the radiance that comes and be thankful.

Heaven on Earth Will Come

Yes, heaven on Earth will come. And it only comes through human beings, one at a time, through the Christ Consciousness expressed and anchored on this Earth. When that happens relationships change. Relationships smooth out, mature, and it is those relationships I have spoken of. Relationships to self, to others, to the environment. As those relationships change with a deep, abiding respect for self, the divinity within . . . then respect for others, the divinity that is within them, and respect for the environment, the divinity that is within Mother Earth emerges. Actions then based on those relationships and that recognition of divinity – this creates heaven on Earth.

We then beg the question again: What is heaven?

Heaven is a milieu of existence, a mindset, a state of being, where each is aware of their own divinity, where each studies and works to perfect their own divinity, where there is respect for one another, where there is compassion and understanding without judgment, where there is working together to fulfill the will of our Lord God.

Except that I must add awareness, which is another perhaps word for consciousness, an expanded consciousness, an expanded awareness where there is knowing beyond what one can touch-feel-see by reaching out with the arms, by scanning with the eyes. There is a knowing that exceeds those senses, a knowing that there exists a consciousness greater than oneself, an awareness of consciousness greater than oneself, which leads to touching a consciousness greater than oneself, which leads to melding into a consciousness greater than oneself . . . only to learn that there is a consciousness even greater to become aware of.

And all this while, you are anchoring that divinity of love and compassion and respect wherever you are. The reward of heaven can be had on Earth.

With my blessings,
Yeshua.
